Learning Journal Exercise #5:

We talked about ethics in class on 10-23-02. You have probably been placed in a situation where you felt your personal ethical code was going to be tested by the situation you were in. Describe a situation where you encountered this and how it was resolved.

Look up the Engineering Code of Ethics for the engineering discipline you are interested in getting a degree in (possibly by visiting websites for professional engineering societies) and copy that code into this journal exercise.

Discuss a situation where your personal ethical considerations could come in conflict with the society's listed ethical code.
